"I cannot understand the failure to take advantage of this ordinance on the part of those for whom it was designed," said Building Commissioner Heimburger. "Scarcely half a dozen permits have been applied for under its provisions, and so far as stimulating capital to invest in the World's Fair district is concerned. I cannot see that the ordinance has had the slightest effect.

ings be removed at the close of the Exposition and provides for filing a bond that this removal be made within ninety days. The buildings may be of wood with metallic lathing on the outside, plastered with cement or similar fire-resisting substance. They may be roofed with the gravel, metal, state or other noncombustible roofing, and they must conform with the ordinances as recards strength means of egreess and protection against fire. "Such temporary buildings may be used for theater purposes, but they must conform to the laws as regard egrees and fire protection. This will permit the establishment of exhibits outside the Exposition at a small outlay, compared to that which is required under the other ordinance. It is expressly provided that these buildings have twenty feet space between them. Nor shall they be built within a hundred feet of any Exposition or public building, unless separated from it by a public street.

"A wise provision of the ordinance is that providing for the removal of these temporary structures after the World's Fair, as they will probably be of a class of architecture not in accordance with that prevailing near the section where most of them will be located.

HE DECIDES NOT TO ELOPE. Youth, After Being Refused License, Returns to His Home.

Oliver O. Fry of Springfield, Ill., after he was refused a marriage license in Clayton yesterday, went back home rather than disobey his father by marrying against the latter's wishes, Fry went to Clayton with Verna L. Bertram, also of Springfield, and her mother, He frankly confessed that he was only 39

He frankly confessed that he was only my years old and License Clerk Redman told him he could do nothing for him.

To Redman, Fry explained that he did not apply for a license in Springfield because his father was opposed to his marriage to Miss Bertram, who is a poor girl, and had selected a wealthier young woman for his prospective bride.

To circumvent the father's plans, they decided to elope to Clayton, but when he was refused, Fry said that he believed that he would make no further attempt to marry until he attained his majority.

Fry said that he had consulted a Springfield lawyer and was advised by him to go to Clayton, where it would be easy to get a license.

Says, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Me of Spinal Trouble and I Recommend Them."

Some years ago, Mrs. Mary A. Lauma, of No. 707 East Fayette street, Syracuse, N. Y. wife of A. Lauma, the manufacturing jeweler of that city sustained an injury to her spine by falling on a slippery skiewalk. Bix months later suctions to her bed and was an invalid for years, in fact, until she tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and was cured. She says:

"My trouble was a spinal irritation, but the doctors could not determine the exact nature of it. I consulted a number of eminent physiciana, perhaps ten or tweive in all, and took treatment from some of them. I tried massage and electricity, the latter affording temporary relief. Perhaps it was because I took so much medicine, at any rate my stomach gave out and I was troubled with indigestion and gas on the stomach. I had a peculiarly unpleasant feeling in my head and there was a numbness in my limbs. At this time I seemed a confirmed invalid.

"A friend of mine induced me to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People at trial. Of course I knew that nothing was going to cure me in an instant and I ried them faithfully. After taking three boxes I began to feel better and I was cured. I have recommended Dr.

"A friend of mine induced me to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People a trial. Of course I knew that nothing was going to cure me in an instant and I tried them faithfully. After taking three boxes I began to feel better and I had taken thirteen boxes altogether when I was cured. I have recommended Dr. Williams Pink Pills for very alling person I have met and I am gind to do so." Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People are the only eminent spinal tonic and their distinction in this respect is due to their double action, our the blood and on the nervea. No other remedy has so remarkable a list of cures to lis credit. Even after doctors have failed, these lifegiving pills have cured obstinate cases of locometer staxin, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale people are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box; six boxes for two dollars and a half, by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectadz, N. outright.

Among the injured was F. H. Byanski, Garrett, Ind., right leg broken.

On the train were a doctor, a trained nurse and two discharged soldiers. The latter had served in the Hospital Corpe in the Philippines. They rendered great service to the injured before the arrival of the other medical assistance.

The concussion was so g: at when the trains collided that a passenger coach telescoped the smoking car for half its length. Three engines are now locked together. Mr. Harper was sitting in the rear end of the smoking that was pinned in the wreckage, being horribly mangled. Death was not instantaneous, but nearly two hours were consumed in extricating the body.

The second section of No. 129, the freight train, came down the main line at Beowaewe to allow another freight train to pull out. Conductor Dorsey, in charge of No. 238, saw what the engineer was doing, and, as No. 5 was about due, turned the air on the train, breaking it in two.

The head brakeman went to flag the first section of No. 6, which was comling. It being on a curve, the passenger engineer did not see the flagman until the trains were almost together, and it was impossible to prevent the crashing together of the powerful engines. Both engine crewe jumped and both engines were demolished. Among the injured was F. H. Byanski, Canadian Counsel Astonishes Those at Hearing on Alaskan Boundary -Dickinson Begins Argument.

London, Oct. 2-Sir Edward Carson, the Solicitor General, consumed the morning session of the Alaskan Boundary Commission to-day in endeavoring to refute the arguments of David T. Watson and Hannis Taylor of counsel for the United States, especially protesting against Mr. Taylor's contention that the term "trend of the coast" could only apply to the political coust line and not to the physical

He also mantained that the principle of acquiescence was not applicable to the present dispute, and somewhat surprised the audience by declaring that under the powers of the treaty of 1966 the Commissioners had no authority to define questions submitted to them, and that they soners had no authority to define questions submitted to them, and that they could neither lay down the boundary nor decide what constituted the coast.

All the Commissioners can do, he said,
is to answer questions submitted to them in the treaty, either negatively or affirmatively. If they give certain answers they might make matters more confused than ever and open up a new series of diplomatic tangles. The Solicitor General closed with an eloquent reference to Great Britain's unwillingness to give up any of her subjects into the control of other nations. He declared he thought the public might think the commission was slow and that counsel were wasting time, but no time and no money would ever he wasted if the long standing dispute between the two great and friendly nations could be solved by the tribunal.

When Jacob M. Dickinson of counsel for the United States rose to conclude the arguments the room was filling up with speciators. He commenced by helittling the minute examinations of maps and the bickering over words and details, declaring that the case could only be settled by grasping the central idea animating the original negotiators.

Dickinson proceeded to take up Attorney General Finlay's points, dealing heidly with the broad phase of the dispute and
